"Under A Vast Sky" American Women Artists exhibition at Tucson Desert Art Museum

It was a busy Autumn for Justine with a special exhibit sponsored by the American Women Artists. Justine's "Monument Valley Vista" was juried into the "Under a Vast Sky" exhibit at the Tucson Desert Art Museum. The museum is located at the base of Tucson's mountain foothills and has a beautiful collection of Southwestern Art.

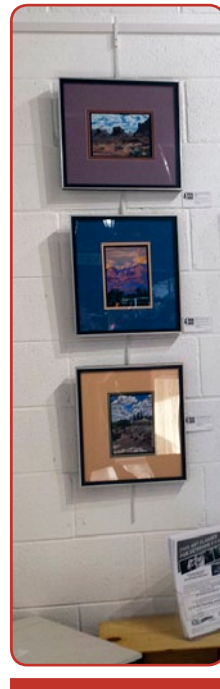

Justine's painting was in the Associate Members room. By getting accepted into the exhibit, now Justine's title is "Associate Member of Distinction". Justine and her friend Donna traveled down for the opening and four days of events.

Art Lovers enjoyed ... The Small Works Show!

Justine created "Monument Valley" paintings for the "Small Works Exhibit" that started right after "Hidden in the Hills".

The exhibit was at the Sonoran Art League new office and exhibit space. Justine had 3 paintings juried into the show which was spread throughout the Art League's beautiful new space.

Hidden In The Hills 2017

This was the 13th year for Justine's participation in "Hidden in the Hills Studio Tour and Sale" and the 6th year Justine was at Dick Mueller's Studio on Grapevine in Cave Creek. This year we had many new visitors. The weather was unusually warm and inviting. Justine sold several prints, books and her two small "Monument Valley" paintings to collectors making it necessary to create two new small painting since the two sold were included in the "Small Works Exhibit".

Fountain Hills Art League Juried
Competition at Fountain Hills
Community Center

Justine continues to be President of the Fountain Hills Art League. January brought the "Juried Competition". It turned out to be a large exhibit with over 90 entries making it a challenge to hang. Justine and Bill lent a hand hanging about 50 of those entries.

Judging the show were Dr. Ginger Leyendecker, Chair of the Art Department of Mesa Community College where she has taught life drawing and art anatomy for 17 years; and Meryl P. Epstein currently teaching graphic design for the Art Institute of Pittsburgh's Online Division and teaches at the University of Phoenix.

Justine's painting "Desert Garden" won First Place in Mixed Media.
